Swim Champion Gives Pointers in Radio Talk

ADVICE to swimmers will be given by Johnny Weissmuller, the world's greatest human fish, in an interview with Graham McNamee during the program which NBC will broadcast Wednesday at 9:30 p. m. over the WEAF network.

Weissmuller will tell listeners how he developed speed in swimming, what is the best stroke for complete all-around exercise, and what are the limiting rates of his speed. He will describe interesting incidents in his swimming history.

Johnny shares honors with the sporting reporter here today before the dashing young star of Wednesday's broadcast has broken virtually every speed record up to 880 meters.

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS

Palace Patrons See South Pole

"WITH Byrd to the South Pole" at the Palace beginning last night is a picture far above what would be expected of a scientific journey into the Antarctic. The two cameramen who accompanied Byrd on the expedition missed no opportunity to inject the "human interest" angle into their pictures.

Interesting and entirely true, this picture is one where the setting is not framed and the actors not "made up." Interesting shots are taken from the time the expedition leaves until the bark comes and carries the men from the frozen south after the expedition has been proven a success.

The public is given a good opportunity to study Byrd. Although many of the shots were undoubtedly posed, many of them could not have possibly been "fixed," but were caught on the spur of the moment during an exciting episode.

Floyd Gibbons gives an account of what is going on while the plane is actually flying over the pole.

Three short features complete the Palace bill.

Woman's Board Gives Refrigerator to Hospital

An electric refrigerator, a gift of the Women's Board of City hospital, was installed on the third floor of that institution yesterday.

A ventilating fan has been installed in the kitchen according to T. E. Somerlott, safety director.

Reformed Churches Hold Meeting at Martel

MARTEL, July 2 — Reformed churches of Galion, Bucyrus and the Martel German M. E. church met in the school auditorium here Sunday night.

Floyd Bullet acted as chairman for the program. Prof. Dorfeuhlmer of Baldwin-Wallace college at Berea, O., gave an illustrated lecture on the work. Rev. Link of Galion had charge of the devotionals and song service. Miss Margaret Kuntz of Bucyrus sang a solo.

Court Receipts Pass $1,000 Mark in June

Municipal court receipts rolled over the $1,000 mark in June for the second time this year, according to figures compiled by Mrs. Madeline Gutsher, chief deputy clerk.

Total receipts in court fines and costs were $1,045.52. Of this, the city gets a split of $670.52, the bulk of its portion coming from criminal fines and costs which account for $581.52. Marion county will receive $62.00 from the total while $10.00 will go to the law library.

POLICE RECOVER 28 AUTOS IN MONTH

Activities of Department Listed in Monthly Report to Sonnanstine.

Uncovering of an auto theft ring in Smyrna this month and the subsequent recovery of 12 Marion automobiles in that city boosted the number of these vehicles recovered in June by police to 28, according to the monthly police report just filed with Safety Director T. E. Sonnanstine by Sergeant L. E. Reardon.

The 28 vehicles are valued at $14,000. Ten bicycles valued at $150 and other merchandise estimated to be worth $1,175 is among other loot recovered by the department.

In addition to this work, police made 139 arrests, issued 185 traffic summons, gave safe keeping to 198, answered 205 police calls, investigated 317 complaints, Meals served prisoners numbered 163. Eleven buildings were searched for liquor.

Stolen automobiles numbered 19, and 17 bicycles were taken.

New electrical equipment for playing chimes enables a bell to be struck three times a second.

Grand Prairie Grange Confers Degrees at Meet

Degrees were conferred upon five juveniles and 75 subordinate members of the Grand Prairie Juvenile Grange last night. State Master W. F. Kirk and Marion county deputy master and matron, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Williams, were honored guests. The next meeting will be held July 15.

THIS BARGAIN OFFERED AT YOUR STORE TODAY

In a secretary it's Capability

in a cigarette it's Taste

THROUGH COMPETENCE, the individual rises to positions of responsibility and respect. Through dependability of taste, a cigarette attains ever greater popularity.

INCREASING MILLIONS of Chesterfields are lighted each day because smokers find that in this cigarette good taste is unfailing.

CHESTERFIELDS ARE RICH IN AROMA, flavor and fragrance, which come from the right selection of choice tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to a rare cigarette goodness. They offer the utmost in smoking enjoyment . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

Twenty persons were killed and eight wounded in the Mexican city of Matamoros when communists resisted the police, who stopped one of their demonstrations, and began firing on them. Well, Mexico has been coddling the red serpent in its bosom for some time and was bound to suffer for it, sooner or later.

A dispatch from Guyon, Canada, says strawberries are being picked in Quebec province which measure seven inches in circumference. Looks suspiciously like a bit of Canadian travel bureau propaganda.

A Tank of Railroad Speed.

Secretary of War Hurley this week signed a contract for a tank of new design to be constructed by Walter Christie, who has been building combat vehicles for the government for the last fourteen years, which is to have a speed of forty miles an hour when traveling on its wheels and thirty-five miles an hour when using its caterpillar tracks, and have nickel steel protection capable of resisting bullets shot from either service rifles or machine guns.

The awarding of a contract for a tank is not much of an item as items concerning contracts for war machines go, especially when the price stipulated is only $55,000, but the closing of a contract for a fifteen-ton tank capable of moving over rough ground at a speed of thirty-five miles an hour does arouse some speculation as to what the probable effect the use of such tanks in the World war would have been.

The slow, cumbersome tanks introduced by the British unquestionably had a bearing on the war, even though it may be that their effect did no other than prolong it by coming to the relief of hard-pressed Allied infantry. But at their best, the original tanks could not keep pace with a retreating enemy. What would have been their effect had those tanks had the speed of this for which a contract has just been let; a speed many times that of man?

It's a question, of course, hard to answer, but it is not hard to understand how much more terrible the next war may be when the contending forces employ engines of destruction of railroad speed in attacks against infantry, to say nothing of deadly gases let loose by exploding shells or dropped from the air.

Let us hope that occasion will never arise for the testing of these new methods of attack in actual warfare. The horrors of wars of the past can hardly be taken even as prophecies of the awful horrors which are bound to attend war in the future should the world again lose its senses and permit another great conflict to come.

To Draft All Resources.

President Hoover has signed the congressional resolution providing for a commission to study the question of drafting wealth, industry and man-power alike in the event that the country is again engaged in war. The commission is to consist of four members of the senate, four members of the house, the secretary of war, the secretary of the navy, the secretary of agriculture, the secretary of commerce, the secretary of labor and the attorney general, and it is to make its report in December of the coming year.

The resolution was originally presented by Representative John J. McSwain, of South Carolina, and sponsored by Representative J. M. Wainwright, of New York. The resolution has been consistently pushed during the present session of congress by Representative Snell, of New York, chairman of the rules committee, and Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the military affairs committee, was active in behalf of it in the senate, and they, together with Colonel John T. Taylor, of the American legion, witnessed the signing.

Much has been said and much appeared in print both for and against the idea of drafting the entire resources of the country in time of war. The mere proposal of a plan so sweeping in its proposed scope naturally would be the subject of controversy. It may be taken for granted that capital, industry and labor are not enthusiastically for it and that those who went to the front during the World war are. A spokesman for the American legion has made plain the feeling of the legionnaires by saying: "When the President's signature gave legal force to the resolution, a great forward step was taken to make real one of the great aims of the American legion, which is that there shall be equal service and equal sacrifice for all in war, and special profits to none."

Perhaps the greatest virtue in the resolution lies in the fact that it should work for peace as it gives notice to all the world that the United States has taken steps looking to the mobilization of all her great resources to repel invasion and combat any foe which may attack her. The psychological effect of the resolution can hardly be overestimated.

The official census figures gives California a population, as of the date of April 1, of 5,642,282, a gain in ten years of 2,215,121 or 64.64 per cent. No, Geraldine, you are mistaken. It is probable that ten retired farmers and business men figure in the remarkable increase to every movie star, actor, actorine or extra.

There's a campaign on in the city of Steubenville against Sunday movies. There are far worse things than Sunday movies, but if the patronage down in Steubenville isn't any heavier than in some places of which we know, it will not matter greatly whether the movie houses are open on Sunday or closed.

He Battled for the Public Health.

The death of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, at the advanced age of eighty-six, at his home in Washington, this week, marks the passing of one whose name and services are known throughout the world.

It was through Dr. Wiley's campaign, which extended over a period of thirty years, that the public is today protected by law from harmful food adulterations and harmful methods of food preservation. His lifelong interest was for pure foods, pure drugs and the public health, and he served the public faithfully and well, not only during the thirty years he was the chief chemist of the department of agriculture, but also, following his resignation from the service of the government, as director of the bureau of foods, sanitation and health in the magazine, Good Housekeeping, from which organization he resigned January 1 of the present year, owing to failing health.

Naturally, assailing, as he did, great interests engaged in the food and drug businesses, by combatting methods of food adulteration and food preservation followed by them, he was the target for many vicious attacks, but he usually administered harder blows than he received and made good his case, winning to his support the two presidents, Roosevelt and Taft, who were in power during the period when the way was made roughest for him.

Thus it is that to Dr. Wiley's battle against impure foods and impure drugs the people of the United States owe the legal protection they enjoy today.

That should have helped the unemployment situation even though the bulk of it may have gone primarily to the materials people.

Editorial Opinion.

THE CRIME COMMISSION.

Under the leadership of President Hoover a commission on law enforcement, composed of men highly qualified for the work, is investigating the whole question of law violation in the United States. Any American who looks the situation in the face will agree that something should be done to bring about a lessening of law violation in this country. The crime statistics show an enormous and ever-increasing list of law violations. The President's so-called crime commission is engaged in an important work, seeking the causes for these great increases in crime and preparing to make recommendations which should aid in reducing crime. Yet the senate of the United States is not content that this work should continue. By its vote yesterday on an amendment to the deficiency appropriation bill it reduced the sum to be used by the crime commission to $500,000, instead of $250,000 recommended by the President, and provided that the commission should confine itself entirely to the subject of prohibition.

The President's law enforcement commission already has done a great deal of work. It should be allowed to complete this work and submit its recommendations to the President and to congress for their guidance in administrative and legislative work. The effort of the senate to confine the scope of the commission's inquiry to prohibition and its enforcement is pleayunish. It is a penny-wise, pound-foolish policy. Long before prohibition became the law the crime statistics, such as they were, showed an alarming situation in this country. Criminals flaunted the law repeatedly with far greater immunity from punishment than in foreign countries. To be a murderer apparently was a less hazardous occupation than several other risky occupations which come entirely within the law. The great delays in bringing criminals to trial, all kinds of technicalities which have enabled shrewd lawyers to get guilty men off scot-free, the failure of the law to apprehend criminals, all contributed to the unfortunate and dangerous situation.

Undeniably, the prohibition law has added a new and large group of law violators in this country. But, as President Hoover has pointed out, the increase in law violations and the large number of such violations can not be attributed alone to prohibition. The list of murders and other crimes has been on the increase in this country for years. If there were no prohibition law, crime would still be rampant in America. Unless the crime wave is to be permanent, something must be done. It is for that purpose that the President's commission is making an exhaustive inquiry. And that inquiry should be completed.

President Hoover has announced that if the congress will not agree to provide the funds necessary for the completion of the work of the crime commission, he will undertake to get the funds from patriotic private Americans willing to contribute to such a cause. That the funds should be denied by the national legislature is a sad commentary.—Washington Star, June 28.

SCHOOLS IN PLACE OF CHATEAUX.

From England, the land of rule of thumb and little by little, comes one more instance of a truth that is beginning to win wide acceptance. By the humdrum process of taxation one may get much the same results as by the dramatic methods of revolution. Visitors to soviet Russia are particularly stirred by the sight of former palaces of the czars and the high nobility now turned into hospitals, rest homes, and clubhouses for the working class.

A similar case, minus revolution, is Impington hall, the seventeenth century Cambridgeshire home of the Pepys family, figuring in the celebrated diary of the seventeenth century Samuel. Post-war taxation has made this historic house, like so many others of the stately homes of England, too expensive to live in. Impington hall having come on the market, it has been purchased and presented to the county education authorities as a "village college" for the population of the vicinity.

In the United States taxation has been extremely busy of late in providing the people with palaces of education, except that here we do not buy up and convert ancient manor houses, but build new, magnificent schools. The countryside has been blossoming with million-dollar high schools, which are as significant for America as its skyscrapers.—New York Times.

The Fear of Diabetes.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Today we do not fear diabetes as we used to do. By the discovery of insulin and its application to the disease, we know how to keep the disease in check. Insulin is not, of course, a cure for the disease, but it does enable the body to care for sugar as it could not otherwise do.

Diabetes is of two kinds. In one there is too much sugar present in the urine. In the other no sugar is present, but the quantity of urine passed is enormous.

In this latter type of the disease, sometimes as much as several quarts or even gallons of urine may be passed in a day. The normal quantity is about one quart in twenty-four hours.

It is natural that so much water extracted from the system should create a great thirst, and thirst is one of the first symptoms of this disease. To be thirsty every ten minutes, and at night, is a suspicious symptom. Steady loss of flesh is noticed in diabetes, and indigestion is an early symptom. The first thing to do is to have an examination of the urine to ascertain if the trouble is present.

The presence of sugar in the urine shows that the system can not handle sugar as it should. That is the beginning of real trouble.

Besides indigestion, loss of flesh and thirst, the skin is not clear. Boils and pimples are apt to appear. Repeated boils are indications of a run-down condition. Terrible itching of the skin is another sign of diabetes. The nerves are affected. There may be severe cramps in the calves of the legs, or neuralgia. One may have headache.

As the disease progresses the loss of flesh continues. The strength and vigor diminish. Where the diabetes is of long standing the eyes become inflamed and troublesome. Sometimes a cataract develops, a form known as "diabetes cataract."

Much has been accomplished by dieting. If insulin is used it may not be necessary to diet. It is a good thing, however, to reduce the sugar carrying foods. The first care should be to eat less starches and sugar than it has been the practice to take.

Because you have diabetes is no reason why you should not live a normal and busy life, with due care to diet moderation in all things, and care of the body.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A READER. Q—What causes an itching over the body? There is no sign of a rash of any kind.

A—This condition may be due to constipation, auto-intoxication, intestinal disturbance, poor nutrition, over eating, or to some food poisoning. Fear, embarrassment and certain diseases of the nervous system may also cause this condition.

MRS. A. B. Q—I can not walk any distance without losing my breath. I am thirty-nine years of age and have been doctoring for a heart condition for two years. What would you advise?

A—The symptom in question is due to the heart condition. Avoid undue exertion and fatigue and be careful not to over-eat. Your doctor will advise any further treatment you may need.

THANK YOU. Q—Is it serious if the soft spot on the top of the baby's head is not gone before the child has reached the age of two and a half years of age?

A—Have the baby examined; there may be a touch of rickets at the source of the trouble. This condition is usually cleared up before this age. Proper treatment will overcome the trouble.

PATTY. Q—What causes my lips to be colorless?

A—May be due to anemia. Take deep breathing exercises, lots of sunlight and nourishing food. Have your doctor prescribe a good blood tonic.

P. H. Q—What will increase my vitality? I am twenty-six years of age and married.

A—Improve your health in general. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

ALBERTA E. Q—I have at frequent intervals extreme dryness of the mouth and throat and find difficulty in swallowing my food. What is the cause of this ailment?

A—This condition may be due to cold settling in the throat. Make sure your tonsils are not diseased. Keep your general health built up so you will not be so susceptible to colds. As a tonic take a tablespoonful of pure cod liver oil after meals.

J. D. S. Q—What do you advise for hemiplegia?

A—Massage and electrically applied to the affected muscles are both helpful. The cause must be removed.—Copyright, 1930, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Scaling Kanchenjunga.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Near the eastern end of the Karakoram range, in Sikkim, towers aloft Kanchenjunga, the second loftiest peak in the world. Kanchenjunga is a Tibetan word and signifies "the five repositories of the great glacier." The more poetic name for this mountain titan, Kong-lo-chu, is in the Lepcha tongue, which means "the highest screen of curtain of snows." Kanchenjunga is not a single towering eminence, like Everest, but a mighty mountain mass, with two overtopping eminences.

"As seen from Darjeeling," says L. H. Robbins, "fifty miles away, across the misty intervening valleys, it seems to hang in the sky like a celestial vision, something apart from earth. And apart from earth, in a sense, it is, for no man has trod its snowy cap; very few men have seen it in its full glory, and only a handful have set foot on its snowy slopes. Cold and terrible in age-old majesty, it stands waiting for those who dare its wrath."

The natives, who have a superstitious dread of this great massif, believe that it is guarded by the mio-go, "Abominable Snowmen," who dwell upon its summit. It is difficult for the natives to understand why the white strangers are so eager to climb these awful summits. Perhaps the best answer was given by General Bruce, in answer to the inquiry of a lama at Rongbuk monastery, why the strangers wished to brave the dangers of frost and snow, of tempest and blizzard, in the effort to climb Mount Everest. Bruce explained: "We are on a pilgrimage. In my country there is a sect that worships mountains. We have come a far journey over land and sea to worship the highest mountain."

Various attempts have been made during the past half century to scale this titanic peak. The attempts of W. W. Graham, in 1883, are recognized as brilliant exhibitions of skillful mountain climbing. Several lofty peaks were scaled, and it is claimed, though the claim is disputed, that Graham attained to the summit of Kabru itself. Kabru is the southern outpost of Kanchenjunga, and towers to the dizzy altitude of 24,009 feet. A native surveyor, named Rinsing, traversed the Jonsong La, a snowy pass north of Kanchenjunga, in 1881.

Another native, Sarat Chandra Das, claimed to have traversed a lofty pass north of Kanchenjunga. And Sir Claude White, with a single companion, in 1891, discovered the beautiful peak of Siniolchum, which has been called the "embodiment of inaccessibility." They even attained the Zemu glacier, which lies to the east of Kanchenjunga itself.

A genuinely scientific expedition of exploration was led by Douglas Freshfield in 1899. Although adverse weather prevented an attempt to scale Kanchenjunga, Freshfield and his party made a thorough analysis of the terrain and laid down the best modes for attacking the problem in the future.

In 1905, a persistent attempt to scale Kanchenjunga was made by a party of three Swiss, Dr. Jacot-Guillarmod, M. Reymond and Lieutenant Pache, and an Italian named de Righi—all under the leadership of Aleister Crowley. They pitched their highest camp at 20,343 feet, and some members of the party climbed 1,000 feet higher. They were still almost 7,000 feet from the summit.

Seeing Paris Again.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

Paris, July 2—A journey to Paris for an American must include a dinner at Ciro's and a seat at the Folies Bergere. Ciro's has been refurbished, and like every other decor in Paris has gone completely modernistic. Its tiny bar expands into a sizable room with space for a dozen tables.

The elect sit in the bar, but there is still the "little room" for favorites. The big room remains for hoi polloi. The urbane Maurice and Julien continue to execute their jack-knife bows at the entrance—the most expert pair of carpet kissers on the continent and at the same time the haughtiest.

Maurice is reputed to remember every name of important Ciro patrons. He addressed me as "M'sieu McGonigle"—thus establishing my importance. Outside of the prices the most impressive thing about Ciro's is its cosmopolitanism. Almost every nation is represented nightly. The food is unsurpassed and you may nearly always see Beth Leary there.

The Folies, which now happily bars all usher and program tipping, is one of the two leading musical revues. The other is at the Casino de Paris, the latter being more popular with Parisians. The audience at the Folies, save for two mannishly-dressed and monocled ladies and an American negro in full evening dress, was little different from a New York audience.

At the Folies one may purchase flap seats without backs attached to aisle chairs at half price. Thus in case of fire the aisles are almost impassable. The occupant of such a pew next to mine smoked something that suggested being on the winward of the Chicago stock yards on a breezy day.

The performance with the usual umbilical display, very naughty, but with a half dozen arresting scenes—one with a bevy of almost nude blondes slithering about in the air in sinuous swoops brought the audience to its feet at a bound. The theme song is a bold steal of "Ain't Misbehavin'."

At the intermission everybody drifts out to the bar, and the huge drinking salon where the "percentage cocottes" with arched smiles angle for drinks. Downstairs is a "Danse de Ventre" where for a few francs one may twirl with the hired and remarkably beautiful hostesses. But hold your watch!

Night clubs in Paris offer the same deadly monotony of Broadway. Here, as back home, whatever night club you visit you wish you had gone to another. We tried Le Perroquet and found the usually bored and listless crowd sitting about in a haze of smoke and smileless ambiguity. And they still try to sell you those flopping long-legged dolls.

After Le Perroquet, we made a brief stop at Joe Zelli's where Zelli continues to clap his hands and cry: "Show the prince the royal box!" in greeting every newly-arrived sucker. The crowd was thin, but it was only 1 a. m. and the dildoes do not really begin at Zelli's until 3 a. m.

About dawn—and dawns are always gloriously pink here—this morning there was a noise in the hall as though a group of Frenchmen in wooden shoes were playing leap frog. It developed a young American slightly in triste, had tried to operate the bird cage sized elevator on his own and was stuck between floors. He then tried to kick his way to liberty.

Parisian skies have been weeping at intervals daily for six weeks. The boulevard outside my window is at the moment bobbing with umbrellas and the line of chestnut trees glisten and drip with rain. A heavy sweater vest is comforting. Yet in a half hour the sun will likely be as resplendent as—up to the chamber of commerce: grab this one quick—in San Diego at noonday. Rain somehow is not annoying in Paris. It is a part of the city's volatile mood.

The old Gallic saying "plus ca change, plus c'est la meme chose" does not apply to the famed Champs Elysees. It is dotted with block long building gaps and ultra modernistic structures are arising with, for France at least, feverish haste. The per capita wealth of France is the highest in its turbulent history. There is no unemployment.

After four days I find myself trotting around the boulevards with an umbrella hooked over my arm. In another week I may go completely native and buy a pair of black gloves. Vive la France!

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Any one who thinks of the universe and the natural laws which govern it feels something of the great power which has created the world and which operates it. But do we think often enough of the amazing fact that this same power which created the universe and which runs it is the same power that a human life can use if it is properly adjusted to the world?

Speaking to graduates of Ohio State university, President Soper, of Ohio Wesleyan, said: "Every man who has caught the vision of a new world and throws himself into its attainment is consciously or unconsciously believing in and working with the forces outside himself which are making for the same ends."

BY BOB ELLIOTT

Trinity Baptists may be tied for last place in the first church loop and they may be lash for six out of the seven other teams in the league but as far as Calvary is concerned they're the best ball aggregation in town For the second time this season the tail enders walloped the league leaders with a finesse that approached championship playing last night at the Silk Mill diamond by the impressive score of 10 to 2

In the first game of the season this year the Baptists defeated Calvary by the same identical score but the game was awarded to Calvary by the commission when the loop monarchs protested Bill Martin Rather a funny coincidence that the score of the second round game should be exactly the same as the protested first round engagement but it's our opinion that Calvary won't protest this game if they have got a good reason That's about enough of history Let's look at the details of this surprise walloping last evening

Messenger Starts

Lyle Messenger started on the mound for Calvary and the Baptists took right to his hurling for six runs in the first inning They continued the assault in the second to the extent of filling the bases with one out when Babe Gruber came in to quell the Baptists However they all looked alike to the victors and they promptly worked him for four successive runs Little hit to Robbins on Gruber's first pitch and Fido stood there with the ball while Osterholt scored and the bases were still filled L Merchant looped a single over the drawn in infield and R Merchant plated L Merchant worked Gruber for a walk forcing in Watt Merchant Dunn ended the scoring by sending out a sacrifice fly to Messenger that filled Fiftie

After that the Baptists couldn't do much with Gruber but they didn't have to with Hap Applegett hurling a beautiful game for the winners The Baptists hit safely in every inning off Gruber but couldn't score Applegett held the losers to six hits three of which came in the sixth when they collected their two runs Except for a

NOTHING TO HER

Florence Killilea To Wage War Against Kenesaw Mountain Landis

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO July 2—A woman who hasbeen world is baseball today was determined to fight alone if necessary even against an old war it is like Kenesaw Mountain Landis

She was Miss Ruth Killilea president of the Milwaukee club of the American association who has defied the high commissioner of baseball by filing suit in federal court against his transfer order on one of her players outfielder Fred Hermott

When the American association of professional baseball clubs voted at its special meeting yesterday to adhere to Landis decisions in all disputes the conclusion was drawn that Miss Killilea would withdraw her suit to restrain the commissioner's order but Miss Killilea said she would contest the case

MILT GASTON GIVES INDIANS THREE HITS AS BOSTON WINS, 3-1

Robins Take Shellacking at St Louis When Cards Triumph, 15-7.

BY HUGH S FULLERTON JR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Regardless of their humble position in the American league standings the baseball season nears its halfway mark the Boston Red Sox can put in a claim for the honor of having the best pitching in the major leagues

Milton Gaston Jack Russell Don Mahaffey Ike Durham Hal Haid Cronbee and Lal Morris take regular and quite successful turns on the mound although the teams success is limited to getting an even break in its games for the past month

Gaston is perhaps the hardest worked and the most effective pitcher He star right hander pitched again yesterday and held the Cleveland Indians to three hits in his sixth game in succession and his fifth of the season He also made just as many hits as he allowed having a perfect day at bat The Red Sox collected 11 blows off Mel Harder but the box score they could produce was enough It was Cleveland's 10th defeat in 19 games

Grove Gives 4 Hit

Bob Grove Philadelphia's speedball ace allowed Detroit just one hit in five innings while young Dib Williams added him to a 4 to 1 victory The teams started out to play a double header but the storm which stopped the games in New York and Washington cut them to one contest of the minimum length five innings Williams produced most of Philadelphia's counters by driming out a home run when he was sent in as a pinch batsman with two on base in the second inning

The National league was saved a lot of complications when the Brooklyn Robins blew off the accumulated bad ball of weeks In the second inning against the St Louis Cardinals Watson Clark Brandom Lafitte southpaw pitched in for Hallahan and Clise Dudley and Jim Elliott were not much better They gave nine hits and behind them the Robin field ers committed three errors The result was eleven runs and a 15 to 7 victory for St Louis

Cubs Drops One

The league leading Chicago Cubs lost a 7 to 5 decision to the New York Giants The Cubs are a game and a half ahead now but the Robins had they won would have found themselves in the strange position of being ahead in the percentage table and behind in games

Fred Fitzsimmons was the leader in the victory over the league leader that kept the Giants in third place

Fitz kept them there by allowing the Cubs only eight hits of which Kiki Cuyler's two home runs and Hack Wilson's one were all that produced tallies

Pittsburgh replaced Boston in fourth place by defeating the Braves 8 to 3 Rolly Hemsley's triple with two on in the second inning gave the Pirates a three run start and they tallied three more in the eighth just as the Braves began to fall Fitzsimmons held the Braves to seven hits

SIMPSON LOSES TO TOLAN IN 100-METER

Michigan Star Sets New World's Record for Dash at Vancouver.

By the Associated Press

VANCOUVER B C July 2—Michigan university's midnight express apparently has not slackened speed

Eddie Tolan negro sprinter who leaped into fame's spotlight when he set the world's 100 yard dash record at 9 6 seconds nicked the 100 meter mark here yesterday by outrunning a field including Percy Williams Olympic champion and George Simpson Ohio State's hope

Tolan's time was 10 3 5 seconds one fifth of a second better than the record held jointly by himself and Charlie Paddock The race was sanctioned by the British Columbia A A U but whether Tolan's feat will be presented for official recognition was not stated

The Michigan flash hit the tape three feet ahead of Simpson and four feet ahead of Williams His feat was considered remarkable because he ran uphill The finish line was 30 inches higher than the starting point

Simpson came back in the 220 yard event to win by 1 foot from Tolan and equal the world's record of 20 0 seconds held by himself and Roland Locke

SPORT RAMBLINGS

BY BOB ELLIOTT

MABEL the members of the Calvary baseball team are wondering just a little bit this morning if they shouldn't have thought twice before they protested the first game of the season in which the Baptists batted them 10 to 2 The Baptists came right back yesterday and plastered another walloping on the worried brows of the league leaders by the same score and they didn't leave a whole lot of doubt as to which was the better ball team They outhit Calvary 12 to 6 they outfielded them no error to five and outran them on the bases at all times outran them on the bases and in every way made the defeat as bitter as they could to the supporters of the Lop heads We just wonder Oscar should they have protested?

And the trouble is just starting for Bill Hurrell and his Calvary boys with St Mary's just waiting for the leaders to show their face next Tuesday evening at Lincoln And then there's John Clark waiting to wreak that first round defeat and in between stand the threats of Bob Rice always a tough hurler for Calvary to beat and Conrad Christians the pet jinx of the leaders Yes sir it's a tough old life and it's going to be a mighty tough row to hoe Told him to put my money on any of the three leaders to be present when the roll is called for the first game of the Little World Series But anybody's league yet despite Calvary's lead of one game

MARION'S latest golf course will open Thursday night if weather conditions are favorable in the meantime The latest one is located a mile from the post office and is by far the longest and most difficult of the five now in town The Master Midget as it is known will be one mile in length and will carry a par of 32 for the 18 holes Many new features not included in the other courses will greet local devotees of the newest craze when they tackle this course All of the holes with the exception of numbers 7 and 11 carry a par of the 4 with the two long par twos 1 and 11 A Alexander who already owns and operates one of the miniature courses are building the Master Midget

Interest in the first church loop will not all center on the battle for the championship three teams Epworth Juniors Christians and the Baptists are fighting hard to keep out of the cellar and the accompanying disgrace of having to go down to the second church league for the next season All of these teams have won two out of the eight games played and it's a tossup as to which team will go back to the Monday night loop All three of the teams are fairly strong as witness the Baptists three wins two over Calvary and one over the Epworth Seniors and Epworth Juniors decision over Epworth No 1

GERMAN COURT STAR COLLAPSES IN MIDST OF SEMI-FINAL MATCH

Fraulein Aussem Forced To Forfeit to Elizabeth Ryan.

WIMBLEDON Eng July 2—Fraulein Cecile Aussem youthful champion of Germany collapsed on the center court at Wimbledon today in the midst of her semi final match with Miss Elizabeth Ryan of America

The petite German star who had exhausted herself in her valiant effort to reach the finals of the tournament was rushed to a hospital in an ambulance Miss Ryan was conceded the match

Miss Ryan had won the first set 6 but the little German star who had eliminated Helen Jacobs of California yesterday in a superb tennis exhibition recaptured her lightning speed and magnificent form to sweep through the second set 6 0

The American girl however took the lead in the third and crucial frame Both players were fighting doggedly Fraulein Aussem doing her best to tire Miss Ryan as she had exhausted Miss Jacobs yesterday—zooming unplayable cross shots to the deep corners of the court The American girl playing at the top of her form had fathomed the bewildering

No Two ways about it!

Spit is a horrid word, but it's worse if on the end of your cigar

One of many actual photographs of "spit-tipping" cigar makers. The above picture was taken in Philadelphia, Pa., April 1, 1930. An affidavit from the photographer is on file, showing that this workman used spit in making cigars.

...the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency...join it. smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

Over 7,500 cigar factories are registered by the U. S. Government. Over 7,400 of these hand-roll cigars, producing 50 percent of the output. Every hand-rolled cigar—made by American Cigar Co. or anyone else—is subject to the possible danger of "spit-tipping." Certified Cremo is absolutely free from spit-tipping—No Cremo is made by hand.

Certified Cremo is a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that bind, roll, wrap and tip the cigars!

WOMAN TO EXPLORE JUNGLES

MRS. AKELY PLANS VISIT TO LAND OF AFRICAN PIGMIES

NEW YORK—Mrs Delia Akely —self styled Queen of feminine explorers—has returned to the New York home just long enough to organize a party of scientists for a sixth plunge into the jungle fastness of Central Africa

From all sections of the metropolis—from mansions theaters luxurious hotels and restaurants the giddy whirl of great cities—east go spell over this dauntless lady first wife of the late Carl Akely the naturalist

Mrs Akely would rather blaze a new trail in Africa than listen to the easy and rehab a pioneer exploration among the giant lily of Rhodesia above the society of cultured friends

A fourbreadth escape from both under the thundering hoofs of a stampeding herd of African buffalo and many other hazardous adventures have not slaked her insatiable thirst for penetrating jungles

Will Visit Pigmies

The pigmies—about whom Mrs Akely is said to know more than any other living white person—will be the subject of her next exploration If so she leaves Mrs Akely will construct an exact replica of a pygmy village for the edification of American children

Her last trip was undertaken on behalf of the Brooklyn Children's Museum and Mrs Akely went alone Unaccompanied by Caucasians she crossed the continent on foot In Italian Somaliland to the amazement of Mussolini's colonial troops there

On her next visit Mrs Akely will have associated her three young scientists each of whom will aid her investigation of a separate phase of life of the mysterious little Ubangi These unique and grotesque fugitives of the Dark Continent are she says not [illegible] naturally be[illegible] On the contrary they are growing in both numbers and wealth

Not Sociable

However they are so elusive as to permit scant study of whites On her last expedition Mrs Akely secured [illegible] during much of their waking hours and became by living with them for several weeks

Mrs Akely has little but contempt for the commercial motion picture makers and [illegible] gate hunters and [illegible] they are terrorizing Africa [illegible] exciting the white race the respect of the natives she declares White inhabitants dare not go out unarmed at night because of the animosity aroused among the blacks by these people

Mrs Akely also charged that the movie men distort the natural life of Africa and stage sensational scenes to thrill civilized audiences by paying the tribe chiefs to cooperate with them

Her next expedition will cost about $150,000 Mrs Akely hopes to get the money from a museum or some philanthropist interested in exploration and scientific adventure

Ham Loaf, Serving 6

2 cups chopped cooked ham
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2/3 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter melted

Mix ingredients and pour into a greased loaf pan. Bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Unmold carefully and serve, hot or cold, cut in slices. Garnish with parsley.

Cherry Cobbler (Dough)

2 cups flour
2 tablespoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons lard
2/3 cup milk

Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard with a knife. Moisten with knife, slowly add milk. When a soft dough forms, put it out to fit over cherry mixture.

Cherry Mixture

2 cups seeded red cherries
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup water or cherry juice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter

Mix cherries, sugar and flour. Add part of liquid and pour into shallow, buttered baking dish. Cover with dough and make 4 holes in top to allow steam to escape. Bake for 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

Cherry Sauce

2/3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup cherries and juice
½ cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter

Blend sugar and flour. Add the remaining ingredients and cook slowly until the sauce thickens. Serve warm.

MINT GARDEN PATCH PROVES CONVENIENT

Numerous Ways To Use it for Preparation of Tasteful Dishes.

A patch of mint in the garden—a winner box containing some sprigs—or even a regular commercial supply from the marketman—will pay the housekeeper in its fruitful expectations. Mint isn't always half of a julep—it has a number of more homely uses. But it does a lot to glorify many a simple dish, and there's something refreshing about the appearance of it that makes it a welcome sight on a hot summer day.

If there's cold meat for supper, boil it up with a mint sauce, which can be made in a moment.

Quick Mint Sauce

1 tablespoons chopped mint
½ cupful vinegar
½ cupful cold water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Mix together and let stand until needed.

A sprig of mint added to any of the milk puddings for children will make them more acceptable. Cornstarch, tapioca, rice, farina—flavored with mint instead of the inevitable vanilla are a pleasant change.

Mint can also be added to any cream sauce to dress cooked vegetables—potatoes, carrots, turnips, beets and greens.

Mint Cream Sauce

2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup hot vegetable juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chopped mint
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Melt butter, add flour, seasonings and hot vegetable juice and stir until smooth; then add chopped mint and cook one minute longer.

NEW REFEREE HERE

Eastman Hears First Bankruptcy Case in County.

H. P. Eastman of Orrville, O., new referee in bankruptcy for the Toledo federal court, was in Marion yesterday for the first time to hear local cases which are pending final disposition.

Eastman succeeds H. D. Grindle of Lima, who has been referee in bankruptcy for this district for a number of years. Grindle heard his final cases here last week.

Cases which came before Eastman's attention yesterday were those of Earl B. Anthony and Harold R. Bishop, both of R. F. D. No. 5, each of whom have liabilities of approximately $1,100 with no assets. Both men are laborers.

GOLDEN spoonfuls — brimming ealthfulness — a mother's gift to her family

A long time ago in a big sunny kitchen, a Mother first made this richer and creamier mayonnaise for her VERY PARTICULAR family. Only the freshest and choicest ingredients were used in this recipe . . . only the very purest and the best.

Now the same, homey, perfect result—Ivanhoe Mayonnaise is available for a Nation's health and delight! At all grocers in quarts, pints, half-pints and 3½ oz. jars.

"SALAD LEAVES" is a unique booklet of salad recipes and balanced menus. Write for your free copy to Harriet Meeker Osborne, Ivanhoe Kitchen, Auburn, N.Y.

HUDSON is World's Largest Selling "EIGHT"

Registrations officially recorded by every State in the Union show that for this year more Hudson Eights have been delivered to consumers than any other eight in the world.

Here is the Why of Hudson Eight Leadership

The public's award of eight-cylinder leadership to Hudson comes in a year when eight-cylinder cars are in the spotlight of motor attention and scrutiny. All eights have been widely and carefully studied; eight-cylinder rivalry has been keen. And out of this situation has come the public's verdict for Hudson.

Proving how Hudson's performance deserves this leadership 25 stock cars were subjected, in a nation-wide test, to a solid week's nonstop run. All conditions of weather and roads were encountered. Some of these runs were made over country highways — some were altogether city driving. In each instance the motors ran without stop for 168 hours—7 days.

Average gas consumption in 124,750 miles was 14.585 miles per gallon. Top speed exceeded 80 miles an hour. Braking efficiency was approximately twice police standard. Acceleration and hill-climbing tests exceeded all previous Hudson records. Not a car or motor failed.

This great test proved reliability and performance in every driving condition. It proved economy such as no one ever expected in an eight. It proved smoothness and riding ease, for such runs would be impossible without these qualities. We stand ready to prove to you personally similar abilities and similar leadership.

Victor in California Tests

With nearly all makes submitting bids, Hudson's Great Eight, with 100% score, overwhelmed all competition in tests conducted in the purchase of cars for the department of Highway Control of the State of California.

Wins Famous Tour de France

Against eighty-seven cars from every country Hudson scored 100% in winning the highest honor including the Ansaldo Cup in the nine-day Tour de France, most celebrated of the annual tests staged on the European Continent.

Health Board To Ask for City Food Handlers Law

Dr. N. Sifrit Instructed To Frame Proposed Ordinance for Presentation to Council; Would Require Examination of Restaurant Employes.

A city ordinance requiring food handlers to obtain permits by undergoing physical examinations passed a step nearer today, following a meeting of the city board of health at the court house yesterday afternoon.

To Draw Ordinance

F. G. Towle, member of the board, suggested that Dr. N. Sifrit, health commissioner, review similar ordinances of other cities and the best of these features suitable for Marion. Then Commissioner Sifrit could draw the model which it would then be up to the board properly to pass upon and present to council.

An ordinance now in force in Toledo was discussed by a majority of the board members and many of the provisions will probably appear in the proposed ordinance. Copies of such ordinances from the cities will be procured for the board.

The text and purport of such an ordinance, the public will be informed, briefly, but the purpose of food handlers to obtain permits after they have undergone physical examinations. Certain diseases would bar applicants from the permits.

Milk Test

While the board did not discuss milk in detail, it was pointed out that the milk supply would be investigated to ascertain if tuberculosis cows are supplying the milk.

The average butterfat content of milk delivered in Marion is the result of tests made by Dr. J. T. Gregory, milk and food inspector. This figure is considered fairly accurate.

Three dairy farms were ordered closed to sell as a raw and pasteurized milk, and two others were suspended by Dr. Gregory in June. Thirty samples of milk were inspected.

Thirteen food stations were inspected by Dr. Gregory.

Communicable Reports

In addition to making 90 investigations, Dr. N. Sifrit, health commissioner, investigated two reports to justify it and made several weekly reports. He attended the Central Ohio Health conference in Circleville, and a session on health at the National Education association convention in Columbus, his report states.

Reports on June activities were also given by C. M. Tobin, sanitary officer and food relief commissioner, and by Miss Mabel Hathaway, city health nurse.

Early Training of Children in Preparation for Matrimony Advocated by Minister

Episcopal Minister Bases Views on Study of Family Life in U. S.

Instructions Needed To Preserve Ideal of Christian Marriage, Is Assertion.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI O July 3—If the ideal of Christian marriage is to be preserved, the church must start training children from their earliest years for holy matrimony and teach them to combat tensions which now threaten to overcome family life according to Rev Harold Holt of the Episcopal diocese of Southern Ohio who recently completed a study of family life in America for the department of Christian social service of his church

In building family foundations a book review of the survey the lecturer cites changing views of economics sex premarital unit ry and the meaning of marriage and tensions which are responsible for most of the matrimonial failures of today

So much does sex and the ideas connected with it meet us at every hand, that many people are wondering whether this obsession is a sign of moral deterioration of our race' Rev Holt contends His modern obsession with sex is a reaction and like all reactions it swings too far The danger is not that it will continue but that the pendulum will start swinging back and our children will become so sex conscious that they again will react toward repression fear and shame

Christian Duty Cited

Our part as Christians is to try to emphasize the whole nature of man and its sacredness to try to strik such a balance and I hope

sub methods of education as to the future of man that there will be no swing back It is not the possession of sex feeling that is unacceptable to society but the perversion of this natural equipment to non social outlets

The survey warns parents against waiting until a child reaches idol sense before starting the sex education the clergyman holding that sex education at 12 or 14 is only telling the child what he already knows at eight but knows in a nasty secretive and unwholesome fashion We must strive to recognition the emotional attitude of the boy or girl from the very beginning If we are to have a sound family life in the new age

The aim of the church in the new social order said the survey is to develop deep down in the emotional life of the child such an attitude toward marriage that there will be a consecration of life in its relationships of the sexes and more important than all an unshakable patience in working out the problems which are bound to arise in any family

Firmness Required

The church he said must be more firm than ever in its teaching that marriage before all else is a sacrament instead of a mere contract adding this would cause more serious consideration of the status and indissoluble nature of marriage

Of domestic finance and the position of women in modern economic life Rev Holt said that from observation he found that it is often advisable for a young wife to continue working until the first child is born In modern cities he said there is hardly enough work about the average home to keep an active woman busy and happy until she has a baby to occupy her time and talents

Presiding Bishop James De Wolf Perry in an introduction to the survey commended it as an aid in adjusting matrimony to modern social conditions

How I coaxed him to eat

"ONCE I was worried. Mealtime was getting on my nerves. I prepared many appetizing dishes but John simply would not eat—just minced at his food. Perhaps sometimes a little grouchy. I began to fear he was 'slipping.' What was I to do? Love, home, happiness, business success—all depended upon an improvement in his condition. The blood-tonic idea suggested itself to me. My Druggist recommended SSS. He told me that SSS was a great blood tonic, that it had been successful for over 100 years, that it was made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and was beneficial to the most delicate system. Also that it would build up the blood and improve the processes by which the body is nourished. I brought home a large size bottle. John agreed to try it. Well in just a few days I could see the difference. His improvement has been so rapid he is going to take several more bottles, and not only that, but he is now telling his friends to take SSS.

It is a known fact that when a man's system gets 'run down' he hasn't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play. It is dangerous to let the red-blood-count remain below normal.

SSS is daily helping people to regain their strength. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. It promotes a keen appetite, gives vitality to the body, clears the skin and wards off disease. All Drug Stores sell SSS in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. ©S S S Co.

You owe it to yourself to try SSS. Its tonic effects will surprise you

LESSONS ON NATURE URGED FOR SCHOOLS

Tests Show Modern Children Ignorant on Subject, Educator Says.

BY EDWIN SCHNEER
Staff Correspondent for The Star
By Brush Moore Leased Wire

COLUMBUS July 3—Can children tell local Lincoln why the grass in the field the birds in the tree tops or the fish in running brooks? Are not our children more sure that in the building of big cities we are depriving children of nearly every nature study?

These were the questions presented by Van Lerie Kilpatrick director of school gardens public schools New York City in an address before the School Gardening Association of America here today The meeting was held in connection with the annual convention of the National Education Association

This denoting the city child of the major part of his nature heritage has led to a woeful ignorance on his part of the simplest commonplaces of the natural world he declared.

A 12-year-old boy on leaving the International Flower show was asked to name the rose pinned on his coat and he called it a 'tulip' A 14 year old girl in the eighth grade called her rose a 'rambler' and 21 pupils pulled out of a sixth year class of 32 pupils reported that the milky way was found in the candy shop Kilpatrick continued

'About 50 per cent of 1,200 children examined in nature gave the name of any star as John Gilbert Mary Pickford or Janet Gaynor Less than three per cent of the same group of children could tell what was the most intelligent animal

As a solution to the problem Kilpatrick said that school gardens should be established on all city school grounds

We don't have those old 8 mile speed limits now

Many states prohibited driving in excess of 8 or 10 miles per hour in "built up" communities Twenty miles per hour was once considered highly dangerous. Improvements in the automobile and advances in traffic control have changed all that ¶ Likewise the constant improvements wrought by Shell in motor lubrication have made higher speeds safe for the automobile engine That's the important thing about Shell Motor Oil It is always ahead of requirements ready now for next year's car ¶ Low-temperature refining preserves all of the rich lubricating elements of Nature's best-balanced crude No emergency ever finds Shell Motor Oil lacking in protective qualities. No wonder so many motorists are turning to Shell.

IT'S A PITY TO BE FAT!

When tempted to over-indulge

"Reach for a Lucky instead"

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*In his famous book entitled "Foods For the Fat," Dr. Yorke-Davies gives this advice: "Any system for reducing fat will be of no avail if the patient persists in eating between meals." We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

The drift from the farm to the city had carried the nation's urban population past the half-way mark by 1920 The 1930 census will show that it has gone even further Another ten years will, in all probability, witness a city ward movement which may land as much as sixty per cent, of the nation's population in urban boundaries

Urban and rural population facts can not be discussed in 1930 without recognition of a change which has come about in the meaning of the terms In 1920 when 51 1 per cent of the American people were classified as urban the word had a far different connotation than it bears today Similarly the "rural" 48 6 per cent was one thing in 1920 and is quite another in 1930

Census usage makes all residents of places with population of 2,500 or more part of the nation's urban population Still in ordinary usage city folks do not hail from towns of less than 100 000 inhabitants It's an arbitrary and a somewhat galling distinction to make but it is constantly being done

Considered apart from the nominal difference which populations make there is a plainly noticeable convergence of the lines representing the two classes of citizens, the sticks and the skyscrapers are pointing in the same direction and moving closer together When the country resident goes to the city today, as often as not he goes to show his city friends his new roadster or to take them back home with him for a week end The pictures which set Broadway to talking he has seen perhaps several weeks in advance and frankly, he doesn't see why Broadway gets so excited He shares many of the interests and recreations of city folks Rural free delivery, the telephone the automobile centralized schools good roads moving pictures and the radio have dispelled the clouds from farm life

Other forces were at work in the city while all this was happening Populations grew, but the growth was greatest on the outskirts Cities now find it necessary to embrace extensive territories which may be but sparsely settled Still the people who build houses thereon are city folks The average country boy could change from his farmhouse to a suburban dwelling and worry about nothing except the bed There are bustle smoke, congestion and frenzy if he wants them but they are no longer an unescapable part of city life.

Admitted on Their Own Terms.

The Rev Dr Douglas Clyde Macintosh, professor of theology in the divinity school of Yale university and Miss Marie Averill Bland of New York City, a former war nurse, both of them Canadians who had been barred from United States citizenship by the district courts of their respective states owing to their pacificistic views, have been admitted to citizenship by the United States circuit court of appeals in New York

Presiding Judge Martin T Manton of the court last named, in his opinion reversing the decisions of the lower courts, said that the cases of the two were not parallel with that of Madame Rosika Schwimmer, the pacificist propagandist, because she was an absolute atheist and "an uncompromising pacificist and was found to have no sense of nationalism"

The Rev Dr Macintosh who was a chaplain of a Canadian regiment in the World war and later with the Y M C A with the American troops was denied naturalization last June because he maintained that he could not promise to bear arms in defense of the country in which he sought adoption unless he felt the cause to be just

Miss Bland was barred when she stated that her conscience as a Christian would not permit her to swear to "bear arms if summoned so to do although she was willing to go to the front lines if necessary to nurse wounded soldiers

It is generally realized that neither of the two would be asked or expected to bear arms Both of them well know that they would not be yet both refused to meet the test offered not as stated because of any fear of being called to arms but because of their desire to make pacificism paramount to nationalism

The trouble which faces the country in the decision of the federal court of appeals is not the cases of the Yale professor and the former war nurse but the precedent the decision sets The court has virtually decided that an alien does not necessarily have to meet the requirements set by this government to secure citizenship but can enter the country on his own terms if he is of good moral character not suffering from some physical or mental ailment and not liable to become a public charge

If the decision stands it will open the way for any and all pacificists to enter the country not disqualified as stated, and form the opening wedge for entrance into the country free from the conditions heretofore imposed And another result of it should this country become involved in war will be the greatest army of conscientious objectors which ever disgraced any land

The United States already has too many citizens who take advantage of the privileges which are theirs as the result of their citizenship who are unwilling to meet the obligations such citizenship imposes America can gain nothing from aliens who are opposed to American nationalism at the very time of seeking citizenship and aliens too conscientious to adopt our ideas of nationalism should be to hold their self respect too conscientious to seek the privileges such nationalism offers

Editorial Opinion.

THE LARGE CITY'S FUTURE

Greater Boston has become what Warren S Thompson a sociologist who made a long study of population problems terms a "poly nucleated city" Writing in the American Mercury for July, Mr Thompson discusses the future of the large city—largely to its disadvantage He believes that the imaginary pictures of the future city with hundred story buildings and two or more levels of streets motor sidewalks and overall levels of tracks for trains will never materialize Instead he predicts an increasing decentralization of population among the smaller cities and towns the far flung suburbs of a metropolis

The premise for his conclusions is the difference between the steam age from which we are just emerging and the electric age which we are entering An efficient use of steam power demanded the closest possible concentration of activity The larger the factory the more efficient it was as greater use per unit could be made of its power plant But the development of electrical power, which can be utilized efficiently many miles from its place of origin, has made possible the decentralization of factories and distributing centers so that they can take advantage of lower real estate values and of proximity to markets and to sources of raw materials Equally important is the recent transformation of means of communication—the telephone the automobile and the truck They not only reduce transportation distances but even in some instances place a premium on factory sites in small cities or suburbs where traffic congestion is at a minimum

This is the basis Mr Thompson argues for "the poly nucleated city —the city of many centers and of many industries The cities will continue to increase, as scientific farming is constantly reducing the need of labor in the rural districts but the increase will be more in area than in population They will become in short nests of little cities each with its industrial retail and recreational centers and its districts of many small homes The present trend in metropolitan Boston seems to confirm Mr Thompson's predictions—Boston Herald

SPORTSMANSHIP IN SCIENCE

If Georges Claude had sunk his million in an effort to build a cup challenger he could have our warmest sympathy as an enterprising sportsman If he had spent it in a hunt for a legendary hoard of pirate gold or on a gorgeous theatrical production one might warm to him as a picturesque plunger

He sunk it—quite literally—in the form of a mile and more of steel tubing off Matanzas to supply his sea water engine Something went wrong with the calculations or the arrangements and the pipe instead of sinking in the inner intended broke up and was lost So went an adventure in invention But the ruin was on a grand scale M Claude who put forth his plans from other and highly successful inventions deserves exactly the same warm sympathy as any other bold plunger also a grain of commiseration is due one who has staked his own fortune on an idea intended for the benefit of other men

In the contrary of the general rule an inventor sometimes becomes rich He is such case but to lure money from me I simply one of the hitherto supplies for further development of his ideas If he has another million or even a million he will perhaps begin all over again Did not Bernard Palissy the potter feed his furniture with the table and chairs when the fuel for an experiment gave out?

There is room for the most daring sportsmanship in science This scientist seems to have shown it We may well wish him unabated pluck and better luck—Brooklyn Eagle

THRIFT

Children and Physical Defects.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Examination of a million children of pre school and school age in the city of New York reveals the fact that there are all too many children with one or more physical defects Sooner or later, unless corrected, these troubles will grow greater and produce ill health and unhappiness for thousands of individuals

On the eighth annual School Health day more than 1 000 000 children were observed for possible nutrition defects defects of the eyes ears teeth and respiratory system It is interesting to note that these examinations are to be systematically followed up with treatment remedial measures and health education

Teachers will make use of these records in their instruction in hygiene They will have this serve as a basis for teaching their pupils rules of hygiene habits and behavior That this is a splendid opportunity for hygienic and moral education among our young citizens there is no doubt and much good must result from it

Appeals are being made to parents for cooperation with the health authorities in remedying the defects reported Unless these are remedied the examination is useless. Parents should have their children treated for any physical defect whatsoever

It has been found that sixty five to ninety five per cent of these million children have one or more physical defects In four groups over fifty per cent had teeth defects One third had enlarged or diseased tonsils ninety five per cent had some degree of defects of vision ten to thirty five per cent were suffering from adenoids and four to eighteen per cent were victims of malnutrition

Just how much time people lose from painful occupations through some of these disabling illnesses is hard to reckon Recent surveys show that among 8 000 000 wage earners in the United States at least 250 000 000 work days per year are lost Among the 21 000 000 school children 170 000 000 days are lost during the school year This takes into account only about half the population of the country, however

Follow up work by the board of health among these children will be carried out as speedily as possible under the medical inspectors Every advantage given the growing child helps to give health, strength and bodily vigor We cannot be too generous in giving to these future citizens the attention they need and deserve at our hand —Copyright, 1930 Newspaper Feature Service Inc

Undefeated Kanchenjunga.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

The last two years have witnessed three attempts to climb the great elevation of massive mountain eminence of the Himalayas, Kanchenjunga The first attempt was the work of an American Dr Farmer, in 1929 It was so ill-considered, and carried out in such a foolhardy manner, that it was inevitably doomed to failure Owing to adverse conditions the porters in Farmer's banderbast refused to go further up the Yalung glacier The last seen of Farmer was a solitary and tragic figure sturdily climbing toward the Talung saddle which is 22 100 feet high

A vigorous and well-considered effort based on scientific lines was made in a year by a group of skilled Bavarians long habituated to mountain climbing The leader of the party was Dr Bauer and a tower of strength during this notable attempt was E O Shebbeare who had proved himself a most efficient adjoint on the last Everest expedition

This party established its first base camp on the Zemu glacier which lies on the eastern side of Kanchenjunga The difficulties were numerous and extreme, but after tireless efforts they finally attained an altitude of 24, 600 feet.

They were within striking distance of the summit and the prospects of success were excellent But just at this juncture a terrific storm began to rage precipitating six feet of snow and destroyed their hopes They were forced to abandon the attempt just when success appeared probable if not actually within their grasp

During the present year a notable expedition has been led by Guenther O Dyhrenfurth professor geology at the University of Zurich He was accompanied by his wife, a famous tennis player Other members of the party were H Hoerlen and E Schneider unexcelled as individual mountain climbers, Dr H Richter surgeon of the party G Wieland who had made many notable ascents of lofty mountains in the United States M Kurz famous authority on winter mountaineering H Duvanel sportsman and ski runner who went along especially as cinematograph expert E Gasparri expert rock climber and I B Smythe a noted British Alpine climber

This admirably equipped expedition encountered difficulties almost from the start There were snowstorms of almost blizzard character to be weathered Many of the Nepalese natives deserted at Jongri A notable achievement was the double march over the Kang pass 17 000 feet high The party's second camp was established at an altitude of 22 000 feet

Directly above this camp is the towering Kanchenjunga glacier Concerning the hardships steps had to be cut in hard ice at an angle of more than sixty degrees! A little exertion brings on temporary exhaustion and labored gasping for breath

On May 9 following the desertion of their porters, the party at Camp 2 were left with provisions for only one week longer The attempt was made to scale Kanchenjunga from the Nepalese side but it ended in definite failure On May 17 Professor Dyhrenfurth attempted to scale the beautiful Ramthang peak 23 000 feet high The following day Schneider and Smythe performed the feat of skiing to an altitude of 21 000 feet The summit of the Ramthang was reached

Speaking of Eats in Paris.

BY O O McINTYRE

Paris, July 3—All Paris has gone modernistic with a bang Every shop of consequence expresses the new art New buildings of stone along the Champs Elysees are chiseled in the modern manner That famed four block shopping area—the Rue de la Paix—is almost a solid sharp edged glitter of silver and glass

Thus for the first time in a century, Paris presents a physical change It never changes' had become axiomatic, but you should see the old town now Nothing has escaped the modernistic sweep I picked up a pin in my hotel room this morning and it was beveled in the mode I can't tell a hat rack from a chair

In the studio attics of Montmartre there are dervishe chuckles For out of the welter of futurism, cubism and such that flowered in such artistic illogics as "Nude Descending the Stairs" has come a sweeping innovation in furniture and decorations that bespeaks permanence

Against my wishes I was dragged away from my sidewalk cafe sitting this morning to see a modernistic exhibit at the Grand palace I had all ready become a convert but the display more than ever convinced me that like the auto modernism has come to stay It is beautiful It is practical

Even the most devout enthusiasts see the finish of period furniture and all other schemes of decor that have attracted their followings during the past decade It is the devastating simplicity of French modern that leaves its indelible stamp

The most beautiful and useful des—and I'll own it if I have to bawl naughty post cards to raise the money—consisted of three sheets of exquisitely cut plate glass and a group of short silver posts There are no drawers but it is the ideal escritoire or I'm as fat headed as usual

At the exhibit was a Lalique glass table with glass legs that whooped up the appeal at a mere glance There were beds and chairs of entire satin that lured with their exquisite plainness For the first time in years of hotel living I have an insatiable desire to go in for housekeeping

It is possible I may yet get inside the Louvre which I have never visited So far this trip my prowling has been mainly artistic After the modernistic exhibit we enjoyed that triumph of Gothic architecture—Sainte Chapelle The chapel in the jewelled radiance of a summer day is breath taking On the 1 100 separate panels that form the windows the Bible is represented almost chapter by chapter, from Creation to the Apocalypse

I tried to telephone Ray Long at the Crillon at noon today It required thirty six minutes by the wrist watch to get that hotel At the end of another period during which I played tit tat toe with myself for three closely penciled pages I was told Mr Long—the Lebanon Indiana upstart—was lunching with General Pershing and could not be disturbed

Paris clings to its historic past with its faubourgs A street may be a rue and then suddenly become a rue du Faubourg Faubourg means suburb and indicates the point where a street suddenly passed the walls of the city into fields beyond The fields and walls have vanished but the name remains

Bill Hogg showed his Texas small town bringing up by starting out at sun up to attend a French country fair in a near by province I hope some sharper lures him into the local variant of guessing under which shell rests the elusive pea

The most popular of the sidewalk cafe on the Champs Elysees at the moment is a modernistically decorated place called Le Berry where patrons sit under huge umbrellas Business has swung from Fouquets across the street but as it does between Du Dome and La Rotonde in the Latin quarter will likely swing back again Paris is ever fickle And Le Berry is cheaper.
